What Goes Into An All Events Wedding

If you've been planning your wedding for any amount of time now then you already know it's a lot of work. Making the tough decisions (do we really have to invite Aunt Esther?), coordinating with dozens of vendors, and keeping yourself sane are just a few of the obstacles you'll have to overcome. But what do your wedding vendors do? If you answered "just show up and get paid" then keep reading to learn what the staff at All Events is doing to help make sure your wedding is a huge success!

The First Consultation (9 months to 2 years before the wedding)

Almost every client comes to us for the first time completely unsure of what the next step is. It's normal; you've never planned a wedding before. Luckily our Event Representatives have. This initial consultation (the first of many) is when we show you what we have to offer, both our products and our people, and let you gauge the quality of our work. It's important that you're comfortable with us because we'll be working very closely together over the coming months.

At the same time, we're getting a feel for you; your style, your budget, your expectations; all of which help us tailor a solution to your specific needs. During this initial consultation, your Event Rep will discuss with you details such as your guest list, the ceremony and reception locations, and your linen and tableware options. Don't worry, you don't need to know the answer to everything yet - there will be plenty more consultations to come. Depending on your level of certainty in what you want, you may leave with some ideas, or maybe a quote. But once you know what you want and you're ready to retain us for your wedding, your Event Rep will walk you through the creation of a reservation.

The Reservation (9 months to 2 years before the wedding)

This is a contract of our commitment to you, and your commitment to us. It lays out in black and white exactly what we're providing, what you've agreed to pay, and the retainer required to reserve our services. On it you'll find general information about us like our address, phone number, showroom hours, and website; and we'll find contact information for you such as name, mailing address, and phone number. But most importantly the reservation is a complete record of every single detail we've gone over about your wedding. There's a product listing showing how many, which style, and what configuration. The delivery and pickup section lists the when and the where, plus who our on-site contact person is (hint: it's not usually the bride). And finally there's a comment section, where we can write out, in detail, all of the little important bits that don't fit anywhere else. It's vital that you read through the reservation with your Event Rep to make sure that everything is covered and understood.

The Site Visit (9 months to 2 years before the wedding)

Once we've crafted a reservation for you and we've received our retainer it's time to get started. For locations we've been to before (most hotels, reception centers, banquet halls, country clubs, and rented barns in the area) this means giving them a call to let them know how we'll be involved in your wedding, our expected time line, and whether they have any requirements or special requests.

For locations we've never been to before (a tented wedding on private property, for example), this means a site visit from one of our Delivery Team Leaders as soon as possible. During the site visit we survey the location and make any measurements and notes that are of importance. We then enter all of the information into our CAD system to ensure the proper size and fit, and to check for any potential problems. If we run into anything that concerns us, your Event Rep will contact you immediately and arrange a time when you can meet with a Delivery Team Leader on site to discuss the issue and our suggested solutions. Assuming there are no major issues during the site visit, we wait for the followups.

The Followups (1 to 12 months before the wedding)

The followups are any number of additional consultations that take place with our Event Reps before the wedding either in person, through email, or over the phone. For simple events, there might only be one followup a few weeks before the wedding to confirm the guest count. For more complicated events there may be a new followup every week or every other week to discuss additional ideas or changes. There's no limit to the number of followup consultations you make, so feel free to contact us frequently. We're here to help, and the more organized we can be during the months leading up to the wedding, the more smoothly everything will happen during the wedding.

At some point during one of your followups you'll probably want to see a play table, a mockup of your table design created to allow you the opportunity to see what your tables will actually look like. You'll get to see your exact table, completely set with chairs, covers, ties, linens, plates, goblets, silverware, centerpieces - everything you've asked us to supply. This is the perfect opportunity to invite your other vendors to see the design as well; your florist is especially useful to have along for this followup. There's no extra charge for your play table, and you can come in as many times as necessary; sometimes it takes 3 or 4 visits before you're happy with the design. However, your play table visit is one of the few times we require an appointment, which allows us enough time to have what you need in stock and get your table set and ready for you to see.

The Preparation (1 month before your wedding)

After your second-to-last followup - typically after your RSVPs are in - we begin the preparation. 30 days before your wedding our VP of Operations pulls all of your paperwork and begins the process of double-checking for any potential conflicts or concerns. The most common problem? Linens. The turnover rate for fabric is incredibly high, with the destruction of things like tablecloths, napkins, and chair covers an almost daily occurrence. Making sure the proper size, color, and quantity of linens are available is the first step in the preparation process, and by checking this information a month in advance, we're assured plenty of time to order replacements and have them washed and pressed in time for your wedding.

The Pull (7 days before your wedding)

The week leading up to your wedding is a carefully choreographed ballet, with each aspect needing to fall into place in a very precise manner to make sure we're ready on time. First, the VP of Operations schedules your delivery and then follows up with you one last time to ensure there are no last minute changes to be made. Next a member of our IPMD (Inventory Preparation, Maintenance, and Distribution) Team prints your pull order, which is a modified items-only list of the products you need, and then begins creating the labels that will be applied to each and every item on the list. These labels are compared against the pull order to confirm the proper items and quantities are being pulled (Confirmation 1 of 5). If we're lucky, all of your items are in stock - meaning cleaned, processed, and ready to be labeled.

More than likely though, we first need to return the items from a previous wedding before we can get them ready for you. This includes cleaning and sanitizing all tableware in our commercial dishwasher, washing linens in our industrial washing machine and then pressing them in our massive flatwork ironer (lovingly nicknamed "The Mangler"), and hand cleaning all centerpieces. As this work is being completed the IPMD Coordinator counts and label your items, confirming each labeled item against the pull order (Confirmation 2 of 5). Next, the Delivery Team begins pulling your order from the warehouse to the truck, comparing the labels on the items against the pull order and recounting each (Confirmation 3 of 5). As each item is loaded, the Delivery Team Leader checks for any discrepancy between the pull order and the reservation, and then compares the reservation to the item labels (Confirmation 4 of 5). Finally, after a full week of work and careful coordination, your order is ready for delivery.

The Delivery

Immediately before leaving for delivery, your reservation is converted to an open contract, indicating the items are now en route. Prior to leaving the warehouse, the Delivery Team Manager compares this open contract against the previous reservation to confirm there have been no undocumented last minute changes. With their final preflight checklist complete, the Delivery Team departs. Depending on the size and complexity of your wedding, the delivery process could take anywhere from one to 36 hours to complete, spread out over multiple days leading up to your wedding.

This is where the careful planning and organizing we've done together pays off, as once on-site our Delivery Team works smoothly and efficiently to realize the plan we've crafted to your exact specifications. As the final step before leaving, the Delivery Team Leader once again compares the open contract with the item labels to confirm that the correct items and quantities have arrived (Confirmation 5 of 5), and double checks with our on-site contact person that everything is as expected. At this point everything is complete, and you get to enjoy the wedding of your dreams.

The Cleanup (1 to 3 days after your wedding)

Depending on the timeline you've specified and the level of service you've requested, the Delivery Team may return immediately after your wedding, the day after, or several days after to begin the cleanup process. The first step is to reload the truck, using the open contract to confirm the correct items are loaded, and nothing is taken by accident. While we're very careful to assure the correct items are being loaded, at this time we don't worry too much about the exact numbers, as certain things (like linens, goblets, and silverware) are notorious for being misplaced. Once the truck is back in our warehouse and unloaded, the IPMD Team counts, cleans, and recounts everything, making notes of any issues, missing items, or discrepancies. Once the entire order is processed, we're ready for the review.

The Review (1 to 2 weeks after your wedding)

If we have a contact person that is not the bride or the groom, an Event Rep will typically call as soon as the order is processed to review the order and let them know of any issues on our end, and to find out if there were any problems on yours. In cases where the bride and groom are our only contacts, we make every effort to avoid calling while you may be on your honeymoon (within 10 to 14 days after your wedding). However, in cases where there is an immediate need (a one of a kind item is missing and is needed for an upcoming event), we will call if we feel it necessary. This review is your opportunity to let us know how we did and if there is anything we can do to improve, and we greatly value the feedback. And of course we always appreciate when our clients take the time to write reviews on wedding websites like The Knot or Wedding Wire, or to hand write a thank you note.

And there you have it. From start to finish the process can take anywhere from 9 to 24 months, and the coordination of dozens of individuals all working towards one goal: to ensure you have the greatest wedding day possible. When you take into account that most vendors are doing multiple weddings per weekend you can see why it's important to choose reputable vendors with a high level of expertise and experience.

Classic, Majestic, or Specialty; which to choose? Classic gives you the most color and size options in a pleasing flat finish. Majestic is a newer material (so fewer colors and sizes are available) which is textured on one side, and satin on the other. Specialty tablecloths are a mix-bag of options: pintucks, crushes, satins. The prices vary widely, so it's best to call or email for a quote.

Expo Equipment | Complete Booth

A complete booth is one section of pipe and drape which includes the back and dividers on both sides. This can be in two configurations (C-shaped or H-shaped) and either linked together in long lines (which will always require an endcap) or set up by themselves. C-shaped booths are one sided, meaning they are up against a wall; H-shaped booths are two-sided, where two booths are sharing the same back, and are placed out in the center of the room. The complicated nature of booth layouts unfortunately makes it impossible to give an accurate quote without some knowledge of the building and the desired setup - as such the following prices are estimates only.

C-Shaped Single

Services | Party CAD

PartyCAD is an integral piece of the event planning puzzle. When preparing for any event, by entering the dimensional data into our system we're able to develop an accurate layout to determine what will work best for any given situation, and help our customers decide the most effective floorplan for capacity, ease of use, and efficiency.

We provide this service free of charge for all of our customers with active reservations. For non-customers (and just why aren't you a customer, hmm?) there is a $50 charge to cover our time.

Tables & Chairs | Tables | Tabletop

Notes

We work very hard to maintain the condition of our tabletops, and the majority of the tables we rent will look identical to the one in the picture. Because of the nature of the rental business, however, our tables do get abused throughout the year and eventually need refinishing. Since we can't guarantee at which point of the "abuse-refinish" cycle you'll receive your tables, we always recommend using linen tablecloths.

FAQs

What are your showroom hours?

The showroom is open for walk-ins from 10am to 4pm Weekdays. We are also available outside those hours by appointment. To schedule an appointment, please Call 330-345-2001, Text 330-621-6133, or E-mail info@all-events-rental.com.

Standard delivery and warehouse hours are 10am to 4pm Monday through Friday, closed on Saturdays and Sundays.

What if I need a delivery outside normal business hours?

We will make every attempt to accommodate an unusual delivery time. If the requested time is extremely unusual (2am Sunday morning after the reception) we will charge whatever it costs to convince our crew to come in.

How do I place an order?

To place an order, either stop in our showroom or call us during normal business hours. If you are a new customer, we will create a customer profile for you, which requires some information from a state or federal ID; once we have you in our computer, we can create your reservation.

What is a reservation?

A reservation is our commitment to you that the items you requested will be available for you when you require them.

What is the retainer?

A non-refundable, non-transferable retainer equal to 50% of the total reservation is due at the time the order is placed to reserve the items. This is your commitment to us.

What if I need to cancel?

You are welcome to cancel any or all of your order at anytime, however the retainer is non-refundable and non-transferable, so you will lose the retainer on any items cancelled.

When is the balance due?

The remainder of the balance can be paid anytime on or before the event

How long is the rental period?

Our official policy is that items are to be used for a single day's event, but we understand most events can't pickup, setup, and return in the same day. So instead, we allow for a 48 hour rental period, which accounts for one 24 hour "use" day, plus two 12 hour "transport" days. For example, if you pickup your rental item at noon on Tuesday (12 hours), use the items on Wednesday (24 hours), and return at noon on Thursday (12 hours). There are a few items that are quoted at a 24 hour "same-day" rate, most notably the inflatables.

Is there a minimum order?

For most items, no; as long as the items you want are available, you can rent as many or as few as you wish. However, in order to qualify for delivery you must rent a dollar amount of inventory at least equal to the cost of delivery. For example, we're not going to deliver a single $1.25 chair to an area with a $55 delivery charge. In response to Covid-19 the exceptions to the "no minimum" policy are dishes, glassware, napkins, silverware, and goldware. Those items must be rented in full-rack quantities, which prevents us from having to split packages once they have been cleaned and sanitized.

How much does delivery cost?

If you live within the Wooster zip code (44691), $40. If you live outside Wooster check our delivery prices.

How do you determine the cost of a delivery?

There are multiple factors that go into determining how much a delivery will cost, but the general formula is to multiply the miles and minutes spent in-transit by four (remember, we need to travel both ways twice - once to deliver, once to return home, once to pick-up, once again to return home). Then we multiply those numbers by the cost of fuel and wages for the crew members and, voil , a delivery charge is born.

What is your delivery area?

Our usual delivery area includes most of northeastern Ohio; but we'll go just about anywhere. The only real limit to where we'll go is whether you (the customer) are willing to pay the delivery charge.

What does a delivery include?

Our delivery is "off the truck" meaning we will unload the items and place them in a mutually convenient spot. If you want them upstairs, downstairs, in the backyard, setup, etc. you must make arrangements prior to delivery.

Will you do the labor for me?

Absolutely! If you would like your rentals professionally installed we would be more than happy to do it for you. Please make sure you make the appropriate arrangements beforehand. Typical cost for professional installation is an additional 30% of your order total.

Do I need to clean the rentals?

We wash and sanitize all equipment after each rental, but we do ask for your help. The general rule of thumb is that we don't want to know what you had for dinner. This means scraping or rinsing plates, rinsing goblets, and shaking the linens free of crumbs. Gas and charcoal grills should be free of chunks of meat, and the charcoal box should be dumped. Chafers and roasters should be empty of food or water.

What should I do with dirty linens and skirts?

For the most part, nothing. Assuming you followed the rule of thumb for clean rentals above, then you should be fine; just put the linens in the provided bag and hang the skirts back up. If you happened to stain a linen or skirt, please let us know so we can begin soaking it as quickly as possible. We have a very talented crew of cleaners, and it's unusual for them not to be able to get most stains out.

I'm unable to clean an item, what should I do?

We're fairly lenient about the amount of cleaning required of the customer. If you know beforehand that you won't be able to follow the rule of thumb listed above, let us know. We'll make arrangements to clean the items for you for a small charge. If the items come back dirty without a prior arrangement, the charge will be significantly larger.

What is a safety/security deposit?

Some pieces of equipment require a safety or security deposit above and beyond the cost of rental. This deposit is returned in full to the customer once the equipment is back in clean, working order with all the required parts.

I broke/lost an item, what should I do?

First and foremost, please be honest; accidents happen, things get misplaced - you're not the first. Unfortunately we will have to charge you; either for replacement or repair - whichever costs less. If an item has been lost, we'll charge you the replacement cost; if you find the item within 10 days of the return date, bring it back and we'll refund the charge.

What should I do in case of an emergency?

If by emergency you mean life-threatening, what are you doing online? Call 911! If you mean a rental emergency (whew!) call our 24-hour Emergency Service line. Please note that this line is reserved for true emergencies - equipment failures and things of that nature. If you need to make additions or changes to your order, please call the office during normal business hours.

Why do some linens cost more than others?

To be honest, because some linens are more expensive than others. In general the more difficult the linen is to clean and press, the more we charge. White and ivory are easier to clean than colors, squares and rectangles are easier to press than rounds. In an effort to give you the best price at every level, we have to charge more when it costs more.

How much skirting will I need?

The short answer is simply to measure the length of the tables to be skirted. However, if you're working with rounds or funny angles, your best bet is to figure out how many tables you need skirted and call an Event Representative.

Can I borrow an item to show my fiancée/fiancé?

We understand that it's not always possible to plan a wedding or other event during business hours. If you need to borrow an item, like a centerpiece or linen to show someone, you can do so at no charge. We do require a credit card number to be on file for a security deposit.

Where are you located?

We are located West of Arby's on Winkler Drive in Wooster. Here's a map.
